Brampton, Ontario/Canada – (June 02, 2009) – The dental equipment manufacturing company Flight Dental Systems is revolutionizing the dental market worldwide, with its customer-friendly approach and proactive business policy.

According to the President, the company prides itself on its “high quality dental products and affordable prices“. This fast-growing manufacturer has set new standards in the dental industry and continues to meet the needs of its customers.

Founded in 2005, the Canadian owned and managed company now sells in more than 25 countries. They carry products such as dental chairs, dental stools, operatory systems, x-ray systems, ultra-sonic scalers, sterilization equipment and handpieces; including curing lights and intra-oral cameras.

“The last two years were remarkably good years for Flight Dental Systems. We increased our distribution network to over 25 countries around the world – for example USA, Canada, China, Russia, India, Europe and others“ explained the Chairman Charles Hui. “A recent market that we have been able to gain entry into is Germany; one of our dealers there recently equipped a new dental clinic with eight operatory systems. This has been a major stepping stone for us and continues to allow us to solidify our place in the European market, with regional distributors able to supply chairs to fuel the growing interest by dentist. We also see great potential in the South American markets. They have shown great interest in our products, particularly with our fully equipped operatory packages. All in all, the positive feedback that we have received from dealers and dentists has shown us that we are going in exactly the right direction“.

The reason for the fast-growing and positive development is that they have an innovative line of quality products at a competitive price. All products have been created to improve the performance, safety and comfort for dentists worldwide.

Flight Dental Systems looks to be optimistic about the next years and wants to continue its success and grow further. The focus is on developing the product portfolio, professionalizing the customer support and corporate communication: “We want to expand the business into other key markets in the next few years. Therefore, we are continuing to build on professionalizing our business concept to develop an even stronger brand image“ said Charles Hui. “Furthermore, we are in the process of installing a quality management system for our dealers worldwide. It is very important for us to know that everything is running smoothly for our dealers. As well as all the dentist that we have personal contact with, we will continue create an effective support-program that will allow an open line of communication between the two parties. Overall, we want to make sure that all our customers – whether dealers or dentists – obtain a peace of mind when working with Flight Dental Systems“.
